Welcome to Active Travel Walks

Urbanwalks is a vehicle to get communities moving again. The company has a simple philosophy to get people enjoying more activity, more often in their everyday environment.

Liverpool John Moores University have commissioned this active travel walk for visitors and staff to their IM Marsh Campus in Aigburth.

Urbanwalks have designed this active travel walk to help encourage and support visitors and staff to use active and public transport options when planning their journey. This route from Aigburth Train Station to IM Marsh Campus takes less than 10 minutes to walk and is a great way of incorporating physical activity into your working day.

The Urbanwalks concept is recognised by the Department for Transport as an example of good practice in walking promotion.
