

City Living

The halls that I live in have really amazing security they really look after you there. No one can come in that doesn't live there; everything is really well looked after for you, so that was really good for me.

I do feel safe in our accommodation we have 24 hour maintenance. So they are just a phone call away and they are straight up to you if anything happens.

One of the best things about living in Liverpool is that you have everything you could ever need here. You don't have to get taxis everywhere, you can walk you are central to everything. If you're meeting your mates to go on a night out your there, brilliant bus service, trains.

The city is lively all the time, if you like live around the city centre it's is easy to get around to the mall. If you like sports you know Anfield is right around the corner. Everything is here so, I think its hype.

I have been to the Tate gallery a few times and the Walker Art Gallery.

There its loads of students here because there is three university's. So t is quite geared up for students in the resources available here. And it's a very vibrant City, so I have had no problem fitting in really.

There is lots' going on for students in the City. I think there is a student night every night of the week. So there is always something going on.

I like the whole City because it is very different from where I am from, a lot of ancient type buildings. I don't see that around so I like that. I like St Johns is very lively where the mall is.

Liverpool stands out because of the people really. There are so many different people around, but everyone is so friendly.

Northerners are the best

As soon as you open a map trying to find, straight away sometimes someone come to you do you, "oh do you need help".

One of the best things about Liverpool is that everyone here thinks that it is the centre if the universe and they work incredibly hard to make it be that way.
